
SOUTHWEST TRAINING INSTITUTE

Christopher Wyde – Professional Workshop Leader

Chris, an Instructor Associate of Southwest Training Institute, has more than fifteen years of experience inspiring people in some of the most respected organizations in the world. Beginning in the Royal Air Force, Christopher taught airmanship and leadership as part of the RAF training curriculum.

In 1995 Chris, moved from England to New Jersey, USA. He joined United Jersey Bank where he assumed responsibility for the design and delivery of their Management Development curriculum. Chris has worked with companies such as Goldman Sachs, Fidelity Investments, Chase/JP Morgan and Depository Trust and Clearing Corporation. He has also worked extensively with regional retail banks including 5th/3rd Bank, United Trust, Independence Community Bank, Ocean First Bank and Educational Community Credit Union. Outside of Banking, Christopher has facilitated sessions for Reuters, The British Library in London and York, American Society for Association Executives and many others. Much of the work with these companies has been to streamline communication within teams, across departments to help breakdown silos.

Christopher extends his passion for creativity and innovation to organizations by facilitating Dr. Edward de Bono's respected program, 'The Six Thinking Hats, in which he is a Master Trainer. Christopher also brings strong leadership principles to companies through his partnership with the 'Churchill Leadership Group', which is founded on the leadership style of Sir. Winston Churchill and is directed today by Churchill's Granddaughter.

Education includes a B-Tec, Business & Finance (London), Certified Management Consultant (Cornell, New York), British American Business Institute Member, Master Trainer (Dr. Edward de Bono), and a FAA Licensed Private Pilot.
